Can You Recall

When the brakes were all of the "Armstrong" pattern?

The jerks of the link and pin coupling?

How you could tell as the train started the number of cars by counting the jolts?

Remember the good old air-tight stoves to heat the ends of the cars?

And the lard oil lamps to change the darkness into glimmer?

Remember those good old days?

As you ride swiftly, smoothly, luxuriously over the rails today, look into the past.

"The luxury of yesterday is the necessity of today."

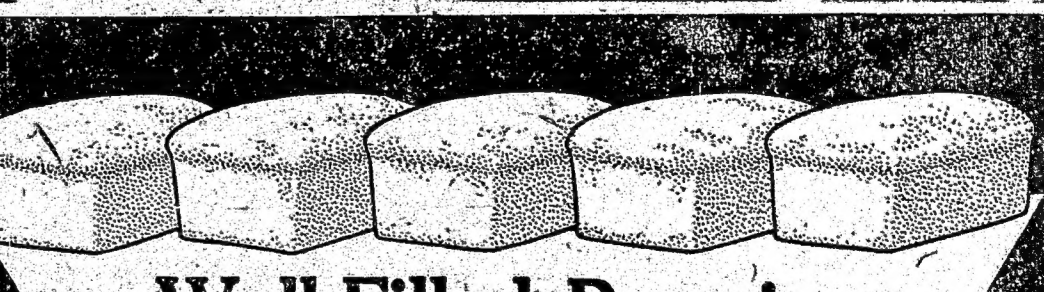

Tobacco Should be Smoked Up As Soon as it's Cut Up

Then it is bound to be fresh—to smoke cool and sweet—because the natural moisture hasn't a chance to escape. That's the reason experienced smokers stick to the good old Sickle plug—slice off a fresh pipeful as they need it—and get all the original flavor and fragrance that have been pressed in the plug, and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper.

These smokers could save a minute's time by getting their tobacco already cut up—but they know it would also be dried up, would burn fast and bite their tongues.

You'll find solid satisfaction in smoking Sickle. And you'll get more tobacco, because there is no package to pay for. Your dealer sells Sickle.

OTISFIELD.

Benjamin Scribner.
At his home in Nyack, New York, on April 11th last, Benjamin Scribner, among the oldest and most respected citizens of the Erie Railroad, passed away at the age of 73 years.

Mr. Scribner was born in Otisfield, in 1839 and 20 years later went to Piermont, N. Y. The record book in the master mechanic's office at Jersey City shows that Benjamin Scribner entered the Erie Railroad in 1859 as a fireman and was promoted to engineer in 1861, remaining on the Erie until 1864, when he was transferred to Northern R. R. of New Jersey as engineer. In 1869 he was transferred back to the Erie and later reappeared on the N. Y. where his career was finished.

He ran wood-burners that bore names and as railroads progressed he ran the most modern coal-burners. With these he handled the very best passenger trains. For many years he ran the Nyack express, conducted by the late Abram ("Dominee") Blauevelt, and they made an unbeatable team.

Three years ago engineer Scribner was retired from the cab and became foreman of the Nyack roundhouse. He was a man who commanded the respect of his fellows and as an engineer was among the best, never having accidents, nor was he ever injured himself.

NORTH LOVELL.

District Meeting.

The district meeting of Rebekahs was at North Lovell, June 6th. Crystal Valley Lodge of North Lovell, Congress Lodge of North Waterford and Sabatos Lodge of No. 4, Lovell, united in making the evening a success. The vice president of the Rebekah Assembly, Vesta Whitten of Fairfield, and D. D. F. Carrie A. Moulton of North Waterford were in attendance. The degree was exemplified by the degree staff of Evergreen Lodge in a very pleasing manner.

Dinner was served at six o'clock to about one hundred members. The menu was roast chicken, etc., salads, bread, butter, cheese, all kinds of pastry, and coffee. After the work ice cream and cake were enjoyed.

The meeting was helpful in many ways, the vice president spoke very encouraging of the lodges represented, especially of Crystal Valley Lodge, and congratulated them on their progress in the last year, and thinks the three lodges are in a prosperous condition, and that owing to the age of Crystal Valley Lodge and the number of the resident members, she recognized the struggle they had in preparing for such an undertaking as a district meeting, and appreciated the spirit that made it a success in every way.

Riley McKeen gave a selection that caused an uproar of applause and no end of fun. It was a joyful occasion. To judge from the many automobile and carriage loads of members who came, there must be something worth while in Odd Fellowship.

DENMARK.

Our Dedication Exercises. Village in Gala Attire for the Most Noble event in the History of the Town.

June 26 opened up cool, and as has been said the day was made for the occasion, for all would surely have suffered had it been one of the sweltering days.

The day was one of the biggest in the history of Denmark, and surely, the most notable, for never before has there been the interest shown on any one occasion.

From Portland came a big delegation of veterans, and other soldiers of the Civil War, from Bridgton, Biddeford, Brownfield, Fryeburg, Cornish and other places, both in Maine and other states.

The monument is at the top of Mill Hill and is very conspicuous and as ever visitor tells us, is something to be proud of, and the face of the base are the words, "To Patriotism and Valor," while on the back of the base is the inscription, "Erected by the Town of Denmark, in Grateful Recognition of the services of Her Sons."

Ever since the monument was completed, all have taken an active interest in making arrangements for the time when it should be dedicated.

The officers of Bowdoin Post of Portland were asked to take charge, and on Monday for the purpose. The Portland party numbering 30, arrived at Brownfield on the 8.30 train and were met by automobiles gaily decorated with flags. The ride overland was easily and quickly made to Denmark.

Our village was in gala attire for the occasion and hardly a house could be seen that did not have the National flag displayed, while the Odd Fellows' hall and many of the larger residences were elaborately decorated.

On the ground floor of I. O. O. F. hall, and what had been fitted up for a reception room, the decorations were among the finest. Here potted plants, cut flowers, American flags without number, photographs of American heroes and the dates of American wars enclosed with wreaths, were used with striking and pleasing effect.

When the Portland party, headed by Commander Murphy of the Post, arrived, they were greeted by the members of the Monument committee, Mrs. Jennie Bennett-Cobly, Augustine Ingalls and Chas. E. Cobb, after which a truly appetizing New England dinner was served in the banquet hall by the ladies of the town to their guests. At 1 o'clock the procession formed in front of the hall to march to the monument.

The memorial is but half a mile away, yet it is all up hill and quite so. Still at dinner, Col. E. C. Milliken announced, "Will walk to the monument, boys. It is up hill, but we'll make it." Fortunately the air was cool so they suffered no discomfort from the march.

Headed by the Bridgton band, the Portland men led the procession under guidance of A. W. Belcher of Denmark, the marshal for the parade. Members of the G. A. R. from other towns, ladies of the Relief Corps, the school children with flags and citizens made up the rest of the procession.

Notable among those in the line of march was Uncle Chas. E. Cobb, aged his 94th year, who covered the distance from the hall to the monument and climbed the hill much more easily than did some of the younger veterans.

Uncle Chas. says there's a good deal in knowing how.

Once the scene had been reached, the veterans grouped around the monument which was decorated at the base with ferns and potted plants. Flags floated from all the houses in the neighborhood which was called Monument Square for the day. The program as carried out was:
